

Year	Winner	College	Project	Supervisor
2007	Barbara Stanikova	Royal Veterinary College	(i) Comparison Of AC and DC waterbath stunning of poultry (ii) Reduction of pre-slaughter stress in geese	Prof N Gregory
2007	Katherine Bundy	University of Bristol	Implications of shechita slaughter on animal welfare	Dr H Anil
2006	Robert Barker	University of Bristol	Comparison of waterbath stunning currents for poultry	Mr S Wotton MBE
2006	Clair Lees & Joanne Widdicombe	Royal Veterinary College	Variation on efficacy of captive-bolt cartridges used for stunning cattle	Prof N Gregory
2005	Anna Hardcastle & Elaine Berry	Bishop Burton College	Effects of rest during transport on behaviour and salivary cortisol levels in sheep	Dr K van Driel
2004	Jade Spence	Royal (Dick) School of Veterinary Studies	The effects of lying deprivation on welfare of transported sheep	Dr M Cockram
2003	Lucy Percival	Suffolk and Ottley College	Assessment of the welfare of horses in livestock markets
2003	Russell Parker	Bristol University	Assessing the effects of blindfolding on welfare of horses during loading for transport
2001	Graeme Fowlie	Glasgow University	Stocking density and time in lairage
1999	Jenifer MacCalium	University of Edinburgh	Responses of broiler chickens to thermal and vibrational stresses in transport	Dr S Abeyesinghe
1998	Jennie Mayne	DeMontfort University	Pre-conditioning and transport stress in sheep
1997	Toni Calvert	University of Bristol	Welfare assessment of exsanguination methods following head to back stunning in sheep
1996	Lorna Buckley	Hartpury College	Assessment of meat quality and other parameters associated with pre-slaughter stress in horses and ponies
1996	Fiona Magson	University of Edinburgh	Pre-slaughter factors affecting injury and meat quality in pigs
1996	Caroline Le Sueur	University of Edinburgh	Slaughter and hydration, injury incidence and carcass quality in pigs
1995	Helen Clarke	Blackpool and Fylde College	Length of transport-is it within legal requirement and can it affect meat quality
1994	Timothy Manning	University of Edinburgh	Thermal environment of day-old chicks during road transportation

1994	Gerard Callaghan	University of Bristol	Arterial supply to the head of red deer: implications for welfare at slaughter
1994	Caroline Messer	University of Edinburgh	The effect of pre-slaughter handling on injury and dehydration in cattle
1993	Caroline Messer	University of Bristol	Factors influencing the behaviour of pigs in slaughterhouse lairage
1992	Marc Bracke	University of Edinburgh	Can animals have a preference not to be killed?
1992	Steven wartig	University of Bristol	The effects of head restraint during stunning on the stress responses in slaughter cattle
1991	Frances Kim	University of Edinburgh	Resting behaviour of sheep in slaughterhouse lairage
1991	Deborah Webb	Royal Veterinary College	Comparison of stress levels in sheep in relation to two slaughter methods
1990	Guy Gordon	Royal (Dick) School of Veterinary Studies	The effect of floor surfaces on the resting behaviour of sheep in slaughterhouse lairages
1990	Paul Atkinson	Royal Veterinary College	The effects of transportation and lairage on the hydration state and resting behaviour of export calves
1989	Rachel Lee	Royal (Dick) School of Veterinary Studies	Pre-slaughter factors affecting the occurrence of bruising in sheep
1989	Harry Rimmer	Salford College of Technology	Meat inspection records: their use in promoting animal welfare
1988	Daniel Mills	University of Bristol	The effects of transportation on the tonic immobility fear response of spent hens
1988	Marie-Ann Deakin	Harper Adams Agricultural College	The use of liver glycogen concentrations as an index of fasting time in pigs
1988	Robert Smith	University of Liverpool	The effects of pre-slaughter experience on behaviour, plasma cortisol and muscle pH in farmed red deer
1987	Stephen Ashley	University of Reading	Behaviour and handling of clean beef cattle and its effect on meat quality and wastage
1987	Lindsay Pass	Royal (Dick) School of Veterinary Studies	Behaviour of cattle and sheep in a slaughterhouse lairage (Joint award with UFAW)
1986	Gillian Weyman	Hatfield Polytechnic	Cattle lorry tailboards and loading and unloading procedures