

HSA Dorothy Sidley Memorial Scholarships 2012

Up to £2000 available for animal welfare research anywhere in the world!

The Humane Slaughter Association (HSA) provides funding for students and trainees with an interest in farm animal welfare, to carry out scientific research that intends to provide recommendations for improving the comfort of livestock when animals leave the farm and travel to markets or to slaughter.

The goal of your project must be to improve the welfare of food animals during transit, in markets or at slaughter. Applicants are encouraged to design research questions of particular interest to them. The HSA also makes suggestions for projects in the Dorothy Sidley Memorial Scholarship information leaflet.

Applications are invited from:

- UK undergraduate and postgraduate students
- UK industry trainees
- students at universities outside the UK with a UFAW/HSA 'LINK' person (see www.ufaw.org.uk/links-news-events.php)

Closing date for applications:
28th February 2012
